STATINTL

Dear [redacted]

Mr. Allen W. Dulles wrote me to inform you when I would be in Washington, and available for a meeting with anybody you wish to have talk with me.

Tentatively, I expect to arrive in Washington early the morning of Monday, September 15. I say "tentatively" because I am still waiting to hear from a New York doctor whether he will be able to give me an examination later in the week. I hope to have definite confirmation from him the first part of next week, about September 8 or 9.

If you will send me word setting up a tentative hour and place for me to meet whomever I am to see, I shall be glad to confirm the appointment by telephone as soon as I am certain about the program for that week.

Sincerely,

[redacted] has told us of the good talk he had with you

STATINTL

He has also advised me of your willingness to stop by Washington while you are en route to New York sometime in September, and I want to express my appreciation for your kind offer and to urge you to do so. I would be delighted to have a good discussion with you concerning additional details of your trip, particularly dealing with areas which [redacted] did not cover with you.

STATINTL

I regret to say that I will probably be out of the country during most of the month of September so I may miss seeing you personally. However, I would appreciate it if you would either write or telephone to [redacted] my Executive Officer. He may be reached care of the Agency at 2430 E Street, N. W., Washington, D. C., or by phoning [redacted]. He will make arrangements for you to get together with the appropriate officials here.

STATINTL

Again, many thanks and best wishes.

Sincerely,

Allen W. Dulles
Director
